- 2.2 In the event of conflict, the following order of precedence applies, in descending order: (i) a separately negotiated and executed master services agreement or addendum signed by authorised signatories of both parties; (ii) Annexure I and the Subscription Schedule; (iii) Schedule C; (iv) Schedule B; (v) Schedule A; (vi) these General Terms; and (vii) the Privacy Policy.
- 2.3 Terms specific to an individual module or service, where published, shall prevail over these General Terms in respect of that module or service only.

3. ACCEPTANCE AND FORMATION

- 3.1 The individual accepting this Agreement represents that he or she is of legal age and is duly authorised to bind the Customer, and, where the Customer is a company, that such authority flows from a resolution of its board of directors or a duly executed power of attorney. Fastlegal may require a copy of such authorisation.
- 3.2 The Customer accepts this Agreement by (a) checking the acceptance box or clicking the acceptance button presented during onboarding; (b) executing Annexure I or a separate agreement; or (c) accessing or using the Services. Electronic acceptance is recorded in the audit log with the user identifier, internet protocol address, and date and time stamp, and constitutes valid acceptance under the Information Technology Act, 2000.
- 3.3 Where the Customer is an RE, the Customer confirms that it has, before accepting this Agreement, (a) carried out due diligence on Fastlegal in accordance with its board-approved information technology outsourcing policy, and (b) assessed whether this arrangement constitutes a material outsourcing arrangement for the purposes of the Reserve Bank of India (Outsourcing of Information Technology Services) Directions, 2023.

4. DESCRIPTION OF THE SERVICES

- 4.1 Lenviq is an enterprise software platform for lending institutions. Subject to the Customer's subscription, it comprises: (a) a loan origination system covering lead management, party and know-your-customer records, application processing, field investigation and telephonic verification, credit bureau record management, financial assessment, collateral management, credit appraisal, the deviation register, the approval chain, sanction and disbursement; (b) a loan management system covering loan accounts, repayment schedules, repayment posting, collections, penal and bounce charges, delinquency and asset classification tracking, provisioning computation, foreclosure, settlement and closure; (c) an accounting module comprising the chart of accounts, voucher engine, party ledgers, books and financial statements; (d) data assembly for regulatory returns and for credit information and central know-your-customer registry file generation; (e) a document generation engine producing loan and related documents on the Customer's letterhead; (f) management information and portfolio reports; and (g) administration, configuration and audit facilities.
- 4.2 The Services are provided for the Customer's internal business use in conducting its own lending business, by its own Authorised Users.
- 4.3 Fastlegal may enhance, modify or reorganise the Platform and its modules from time to time. Where a change materially and adversely reduces the core functionality subscribed to by the Customer, Fastlegal shall give the Customer not less than thirty (30) days' prior notice, and the Customer may terminate the affected module by notice within that period and receive a pro-rata refund of prepaid Fees for the unexpired term of that module.

- 4.4 Features designated as beta, preview or pilot are provided on an as-is basis, without service levels, warranty or liability, and may be withdrawn at any time.
- 4.5 Any implementation, data migration, configuration, customisation, integration or training services are provided only where expressly agreed in the Subscription Schedule or a separate statement of work, and are chargeable separately unless stated to be included.

5. NATURE OF THE ARRANGEMENT

- 5.1 Technology provider only. Fastlegal is a technology service provider. It is not a bank, non-banking financial company, financial institution or credit information company; it holds no registration or licence from the Reserve Bank of India; it does not extend credit, accept deposits, hold customer funds, or assume any credit, market or operational risk of the Customer's lending business.
- 5.2 Not a lending service provider. Fastlegal does not act as a lending service provider, and does not operate a digital lending application on the Customer's behalf, within the meaning of the Reserve Bank of India (Digital Lending) Directions, 2025. In particular, Fastlegal does not: (a) source, solicit or acquire borrowers; (b) interface or communicate with the Customer's borrowers; (c) make, recommend or influence any credit decision; (d) disburse, collect, hold or route any loan monies; (e) undertake recovery or engage recovery agents; or (f) furnish any default loss guarantee. Where the Customer elects to expose any borrower-facing interface, portal or application built with or connected to the Platform, the Customer alone shall be the regulated entity responsible for compliance with those Directions, including due diligence, disclosure, cooling-off, grievance redressal and the reporting of digital lending applications on the Reserve Bank of India's Centralised Information Management System portal.
- 5.3 Outsourcing of information technology services. The Customer acknowledges that where it is an RE to which the Reserve Bank of India (Outsourcing of Information Technology Services) Directions, 2023 apply (which, at present, covers non-banking financial companies in the Middle, Upper and Top Layers under the Scale Based Regulation framework), this arrangement may constitute outsourcing of information technology services and may be assessed by the Customer as a material outsourcing arrangement. Part B of Schedule C shall then apply. Outsourcing does not diminish the Customer's obligations to its borrowers or to the Reserve Bank of India, and nothing in this Agreement shall be construed as transferring any regulatory obligation of the Customer to Fastlegal.
- 5.4 No professional advice. Nothing in the Services, the Documentation, any generated document, computation, classification, template or report constitutes legal, regulatory, tax, accounting, actuarial, valuation or compliance advice, and none of it may be relied upon as such.

6. DEPLOYMENT MODELS

- 6.1 Cloud Subscription. The Platform is hosted by Fastlegal on infrastructure located in India, with row-level tenant isolation. Schedule A (Service Levels and Support) and Schedule C apply in full.
- 6.2 Self-Hosted Deployment. Where the Customer elects to deploy the Platform on its own infrastructure, Schedule B applies and prevails. In a Self-Hosted Deployment, Fastlegal does not host, store or have standing access to Customer Data, the availability commitments and service credits in Schedule A do not apply, and Fastlegal's obligations as a Data Processor under Schedule C apply only to the extent and for the period that Fastlegal is granted access to Customer Data for support purposes.

- 6.3 Migration from one deployment model to the other requires a written variation to the Subscription Schedule and may involve revised Fees, a migration charge, and a re-execution of Annexure I.

7. TRIAL, PILOT AND PROOF OF CONCEPT

- 7.1 Where Fastlegal makes the Services available on a free trial, pilot or proof-of-concept basis, the Services are provided as-is, without warranty, service level, support commitment or liability of any kind, and may be withdrawn or terminated by Fastlegal at any time in its discretion.
- 7.2 Data entered during a trial or pilot will be permanently deleted thirty (30) days after the end of the trial period unless the Customer converts to a paid subscription. The Customer is responsible for exporting its data before that date.
- 7.3 The Customer shall not process live Borrower Data or any other live Personal Data in a trial or pilot environment unless (a) it has issued the notices and obtained the consents required under the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, and (b) this Agreement, including Schedule C, has been accepted.

8. ACCOUNTS, AUTHORISED USERS AND ADMINISTRATORS

- 8.1 The Customer shall provide true, accurate, current and complete information at sign-up and shall keep it updated. Fastlegal may suspend or terminate an account where information provided is untrue, inaccurate, outdated or incomplete, or where Fastlegal has reasonable grounds to believe it to be so.
- 8.2 The individual who completes onboarding will be constituted as the super administrator of the Customer's tenant. The Customer is responsible for (a) appointing competent administrators; (b) provisioning and de-provisioning Authorised Users promptly, including on separation of an employee; (c) configuring roles, data scopes, the approval matrix and maker-checker controls in a manner consistent with its own internal control and segregation-of-duties policies; and (d) enforcing two-factor authentication for approvers and administrators.
- 8.3 Access is by named user. Login credentials shall not be shared, and a single login shall not be used by more than one individual. The Customer shall keep credentials confidential and shall notify Fastlegal within twenty-four (24) hours of becoming aware of any actual or suspected unauthorised access to or use of its tenant.
- 8.4 The number of Authorised Users, branches and other usage metrics shall not exceed those specified in the Subscription Schedule. Fastlegal may charge for excess usage at the prevailing rate on thirty (30) days' notice.
- 8.5 The Customer may lodge with Fastlegal a written administrator-account recovery process. In the absence of such a process, Fastlegal may restore control of an administrator account to an individual furnishing proof of authority satisfactory to Fastlegal, and the Customer shall not hold Fastlegal liable for any action taken in good faith in that regard.
- 8.6 The Customer is responsible for all acts and omissions of its Authorised Users and administrators, and for all activity occurring within its tenant, as if they were its own.

9. CUSTOMER RESPONSIBILITIES — REGULATORY AND OPERATIONAL

- 9.1 The Customer is solely responsible for compliance with Applicable Law in the conduct of its lending business. The Services compute, classify, assemble and generate output strictly on the basis of the products, schemes, rates, charges, policies, parameters, master data and transaction data configured or entered by the Customer or its Authorised Users. Fastlegal exercises no credit, accounting, valuation or regulatory judgement.
- 9.2 Without limiting Clause 9.1, and notwithstanding any assistance rendered by the Services or by Fastlegal, each of the following remains the sole and non-delegable responsibility of the Customer:

9.3 Verification before use. Every return, statement, key facts statement, sanction letter, agreement, certificate, ledger, financial statement, credit information file, know-your-customer file, computation and report generated by the Services shall be independently reviewed and verified by the Customer before issue, filing, submission, publication or reliance. The Customer shall not treat any system-generated output as final without such review.

9.4 Document templates. The document templates within the Platform are formats intended to reduce drafting effort. They are not legal opinions and have not been settled for the Customer's particular products, State or circumstances. The Customer shall have its templates vetted by its own legal advisers before first use and after any change in law, and shall be responsible for the legal sufficiency of the executed documents.

9.5 The Customer is responsible for the accuracy of master and reference data it uploads or maintains, including gold rates, bureau reports, valuation reports, legal opinions, stock statements, insurance particulars and third-party data.

9.6 The Customer is responsible for its own endpoints, network, electronic mail, browser versions, connectivity and physical security, and for the security awareness of its personnel.

9.7 The Customer shall designate in Annexure I a nodal officer for this Agreement, who shall be Fastlegal's point of contact for incidents, audits, regulatory requests and exit management.

18. CONFIDENTIALITY

- 18.1 "Confidential Information" means all non-public information disclosed by one party to the other, in any form, which is designated as confidential or which a reasonable person would understand to be confidential, including Customer Data, borrower information, business plans, pricing, policies, product roadmaps, security architecture, source code, audit findings and the terms of this Agreement.

A5. Service credits

Where monthly availability falls below the committed level, the Customer may claim a service credit against the next invoice, computed on the monthly subscription Fee for the affected environment:

| Monthly availability achieved     | Service credit         |

A5.1 Claims shall be made in writing within thirty (30) days of the end of the affected month. Credits in any month shall not exceed twenty-five per cent (25%) of the monthly Fee, are not payable in cash, and are the sole financial remedy for unavailability, without prejudice to the Customer's right to terminate under Clause 25.3.

A6. Backup and recovery

A6.1 Fastlegal shall take daily backups of the production database and object storage, shall retain them for not less than thirty (30) days, and shall store them within India in encrypted form.

A6.2 The recovery point objective is twenty-four (24) hours and the recovery time objective is eight (8) hours. Restoration shall be tested at least once every quarter and a summary of results made available on request.

A7. Environments

SCHEDULE B

SELF-HOSTED (ON-PREMISE) DEPLOYMENT TERMS

This Schedule applies only where the Subscription Schedule records the deployment model as Self-Hosted. Where it applies, it prevails over the General Terms and over Schedule A to the extent of any inconsistency.

B1. Licence grant

Fastlegal grants the Customer, for the subscription term and subject to payment of the Fees, a non-exclusive, non-transferable, non-sublicensable, revocable licence to install, configure and operate the Platform on infrastructure owned, leased or otherwise controlled by the Customer and located within India, for one (1) production instance and one (1) non-production instance, for use by up to the number of Authorised Users stated in the Subscription Schedule, solely for the Customer's own lending business.

B2. Delivery

Fastlegal shall deliver the Platform in the form of deployable container images or build artefacts, together with the Documentation, deployment guide and configuration templates. No source code is delivered or licensed. Source code escrow, if required, shall be the subject of a separate tripartite escrow agreement and a separate fee.

B3. Environment and minimum specification

The Customer shall procure, provision and maintain, at its own cost, the infrastructure required to operate the Platform, being not less than the minimum specification stated in the Documentation, which as at the date of this Agreement comprises a server with four (4) virtual central processing units and eight (8) gigabytes of memory, PostgreSQL version 15 or later, Redis version 7 or later, storage compatible with the simple storage service application programming interface, a valid transport layer security certificate, and a supported operating system. Fastlegal shall notify any change to the minimum specification not less than sixty (60) days in advance.

B4. Customer responsibilities

In a Self-Hosted Deployment the Customer is solely responsible for: (a) the procurement, security, capacity, patching and hardening of the infrastructure, operating system, database, cache, storage and network; (b) firewalls, network segmentation, intrusion detection, endpoint protection and physical security; (c) database administration, tuning, indexing and archival; (d) backups, their encryption, their off-site storage and the periodic testing of restoration; (e) business continuity and disaster recovery, including the maintenance of a recovery site; (f) availability and uptime; (g) key management, secret storage and certificate renewal; (h) monitoring, alerting, log retention and log protection; (i) the application of updates and security patches supplied by Fastlegal; and (j) all compliance obligations arising from its custody of the data.

B5. Fastlegal responsibilities

Fastlegal shall, for so long as the annual maintenance charge is paid: (a) supply updates, new releases and security patches within the licensed scope; (b) supply release notes and updated Documentation; (c) provide remote support during the hours stated in paragraph A3.1 for defects in the Platform itself; and (d) provide reasonable assistance with upgrades. Fastlegal is not responsible for the Customer's environment, or for any defect arising from it.

B5A. Security advisories and vulnerabilities

Where Fastlegal becomes aware of a vulnerability in the Platform which it classifies as critical or high severity and which affects a version in use by the Customer, Fastlegal shall notify the Customer's nodal officer within seven (7) days of becoming aware of it, and shall supply a patch, an updated release or a documented workaround within a period commensurate with the severity. The notification shall state the affected versions, the nature and severity of the vulnerability, its potential impact, and the mitigating steps available pending remediation. The Customer shall apply the patch or workaround within the period stated in paragraph B9. Fastlegal does not operate or monitor the Customer's environment and is not able to detect a security incident occurring within it; the detection, investigation, containment and regulatory reporting of any such incident, including any report required to the Reserve Bank of India or the Indian Computer Emergency Response Team, are the sole responsibility of the Customer.

B6. No availability commitment

Schedule A does not apply. Fastlegal gives no availability, uptime, recovery time or recovery point commitment, and no service credits are payable, in respect of a Self-Hosted Deployment. Fastlegal shall have no liability for any downtime, data loss, corruption or breach arising from the Customer's environment, configuration, infrastructure, backups or operational practices.

B7. Licence key and telemetry

The Platform may require periodic activation or validation against a licence key. Validation transmits only the licence identifier, the instance identifier, the software version and the count of provisioned users. No Customer Data, Borrower Data or Personal Data is transmitted. The Customer shall not disable, block or tamper with the licence validation mechanism. Where the Customer's network policy prevents outbound validation, Fastlegal shall provide an offline activation mechanism.

B8. Access for support

Fastlegal shall have no standing access to the Customer's environment or to Customer Data. Where support requires access, the Customer shall grant time-bound, named, logged and supervised access, or shall furnish sanitised logs and reproduction data. Where the Customer declines to grant access or to furnish the information reasonably required, Fastlegal's support obligation in respect of that issue is suspended. Fastlegal acts as a Data Processor only for the duration and to the extent of such access, and Schedule C applies accordingly.

B9. Versions, updates and supported releases

The Customer shall apply security patches within thirty (30) days of supply and shall not operate a version older than the current release less two (2) minor versions. Fastlegal supports only the current release and the two immediately preceding minor releases. Support, warranties at Clause 27.2 and the indemnity at Clause 29.1 do not apply to an unsupported, modified or unpatched version.

B10. Restrictions

In addition to Clause 10, the Customer shall not: (a) install or operate more instances than licensed; (b) modify, patch, recompile or create derivative works of the Platform; (c) permit any third party to access the Platform, whether as a service bureau, managed service or otherwise; (d) use the Platform to service the loan portfolio of any other person; (e) copy the Platform except for one archival copy; or (f) remove or alter any licence marking, watermark or attribution.

B11. Verification of usage

Fastlegal may, once in each financial year and on not less than fifteen (15) days' notice, request a self-certification of the number of instances, Authorised Users and branches in use, supported by a system-generated report. Where a shortfall in Fees is established, the Customer shall pay the difference within thirty (30) days.

B12. Data protection in a Self-Hosted Deployment

The Customer is the sole custodian and Data Fiduciary in respect of all data held in a Self-Hosted Deployment. Fastlegal neither holds nor has access to such data. Clauses 15.1 to 15.3, 17, 21.1 to 21.3 and 26.3 to 26.4, and Schedule C Part A, apply only to the extent and for the periods that Fastlegal is granted access under paragraph B8. The security measures in Annexure C-2 describe controls built into the Platform; their effective operation depends on the Customer's configuration and environment.

B13. Termination

On expiry or termination, the Customer shall immediately cease all use of the Platform, uninstall and permanently delete all instances, images, artefacts and copies, and shall furnish within thirty (30) days a certificate signed by an authorised signatory confirming that it has done so. The Customer's own data remains with the Customer, and Fastlegal has no obligation to export, return, retain or erase it. Fastlegal shall deactivate the licence key. The Customer shall be entitled to retain read-only access to its own database for its statutory record-retention purposes, but shall not operate the Platform.

B14. Fees

A Self-Hosted Deployment is charged as a licence fee together with an annual maintenance charge as stated in the Subscription Schedule. Where the annual maintenance charge is not paid, the licence to use the version then installed continues for the balance of the subscription term, but entitlement to updates, patches and support ceases, and Fastlegal shall have no liability in respect of the unsupported version. Implementation, migration, integration and training are chargeable separately.

B15. Third-party and open-source components

The Platform incorporates third-party and open-source components, a list of which and of their licences shall be supplied with the delivery. The Customer shall comply with those licences. Fastlegal gives no warranty in respect of such components beyond passing through, to the extent permitted, any warranty it receives.

B16. Liability in a Self-Hosted Deployment

For the purposes of Clauses 28.2 and 28.3, "Fees" means the licence fee and annual maintenance charge paid and payable in the preceding twelve (12) months. Fastlegal shall have no liability whatsoever for loss, corruption, unavailability or unauthorised disclosure of data arising from the Customer's infrastructure, configuration, access management, backups or operational practices.

Fastlegal shall provide all cooperation reasonably necessary to enable the Customer to give intimation to each affected Data Principal and to the Data Protection Board of India within the timelines prescribed, and to make any report required to the Reserve Bank of India and the Indian Computer Emergency Response Team.

C8. Assistance with the rights of Data Principals

Where Fastlegal receives a request directly from a Data Principal in relation to Customer Data, it shall not respond to it substantively, shall inform the Data Principal to approach the Customer, and shall forward the request to the Customer within three (3) business days. Fastlegal shall action a written instruction of the Customer arising from such a request within seven (7) working days, or such shorter period as may be necessary to enable the Customer to meet a statutory timeline of which it has given notice.

C16. Scope and materiality

The nature and scope of the outsourced activity is the provision of the Platform and related support as described in Clause 4. The Customer shall determine whether the arrangement is a material outsourcing arrangement under its board-approved information technology outsourcing policy, and shall inform Fastlegal of that determination. Fastlegal shall comply with such of the Customer's board-approved outsourcing and information security policies as are communicated to it in writing and are consistent with this Agreement.

C17. Confidentiality and security of the Customer's information
